Description

Tulum Beachfront Lot Tankah – A Rare Coastal Opportunity, Now Offered at a New Price

This exceptional 3,200+ m² lot with 79 linear meters of coastline in Tankah Bay has just become even more compelling. The sellers have made a decisive move to sell, reducing the price by $600,000—positioning this property at least $500 per square meter below current comparable offerings.

Among the very few coastal properties left in Tulum, this lot features a pristine, sandy beach—an increasingly rare attribute. Even more remarkable, the site benefits from natural ocean currents that shield the shoreline and keep it largely free of the sargassum seaweed that affects much of the Mexican Caribbean.

About Tankah Bay

Tankah Bay, just north of Tulum, blends rustic charm with exclusivity. Protected by an offshore reef, the calm waters are ideal for kayaking, snorkeling, and paddleboarding. The area is rich in biodiversity, with Casa Cenote (Cenote Manatí) nearby, connecting underground rivers to the sea. Tankah is also one of the Riviera Maya's most important sea turtle nesting beaches, where from March to November visitors can witness the extraordinary natural spectacle of turtles laying eggs and hatchlings making their way to the ocean.

In a market where prime beachfront land is becoming scarce, this price adjustment creates extraordinary value for investors ready to act. Few opportunities combine such size, exclusivity, natural protection, and beauty with a price advantage of this scale.

Whether envisioned as a boutique hotel, luxury villas, or a private estate, this property offers not only unmatched location and development potential, but also a clear path to strong returns in Tulum's luxury coastal market.
