Description

Imagine a place where ancient Mayan ruins and modern, sustainable architecture seamlessly blend together to create a one-of-a-kind living experience.

That place is here in Tulum, where a new development inspired by the ancient city of Uxmal pays homage to the past while forging a path toward a sustainable future.

The use of cresterias in Mayan culture was a complex and multi-layered phenomenon, encompassing religious, social, and architectural functions.

They were a powerful symbol of the Mayan worldview, reflecting the importance of spirituality, and prestige in their culture.

Uxmal is incorporating Mayan Cresterias into the design as a way to honor Mayan culture, create an aesthetically striking Feature, imbue the building with additional meaning and symbolism, and achieve historical accuracy in architectural representation.

Uxmal is pursuing LEED Certification:

A globally recognized symbol of sustainability achievement.

This means that each unit has been designed to be environmentally friendly and promote the health and well-being of its residents.

Indulge in the mesmerizing beauty of Uxmal while residing in one of our six distinctive unit types, each meticulously crafted to provide a comfortable and unparalleled living experience.
